In January the children learned that polar bears stay warm because of their fur and blubber. Ask them about the blubber experiment we did with ice water. We painted with salt water paints to create unique crystal paintings. We made a fun Arora Borealis sky for the bulletin board as we learned about the beautiful Northern Lights. We also created blue & white art work by tearing and gluing construction paper. A hard skill to master when you're 3 & 4 years old! We're practicing drawing circles and ovals and made polar bears and penguins using these basic shapes. Mix or match? Socks, shoes & mittens. We've enjoyed a variety of games and activities finding and matching the items we wear.
